Westminster

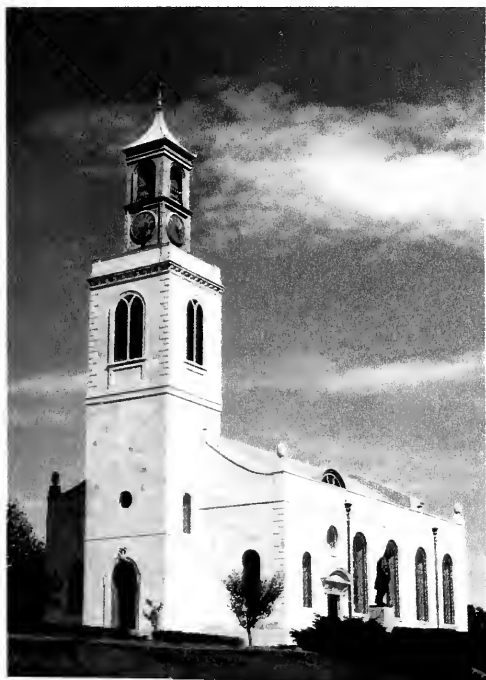

No larger than one square mile, populated by a mere seven hundred people, Westminster is a world in itself. For four years we come to this world, working and playing, to gain that most prized of all possessions — an education.

But, what is our world like? This year's Bluejay seeks to answer that question with copy and pictures. The yearbook's theme, "Westminster: A World in Itself," is an attempt to capture and portray the nature of the Westminster World in a short 224 pages.

Yet, this is not its only purpose. This year's Bluejay also hopes to show that a whole universe outside of Westminster's isolated community exists to be known and explored. Without viewing Westminster from this broader perspective, we believe our portrait of this small, Midwestern, Liberal Arts College might become distorted.

*A World
In Itself*

The people of this world

Fulton

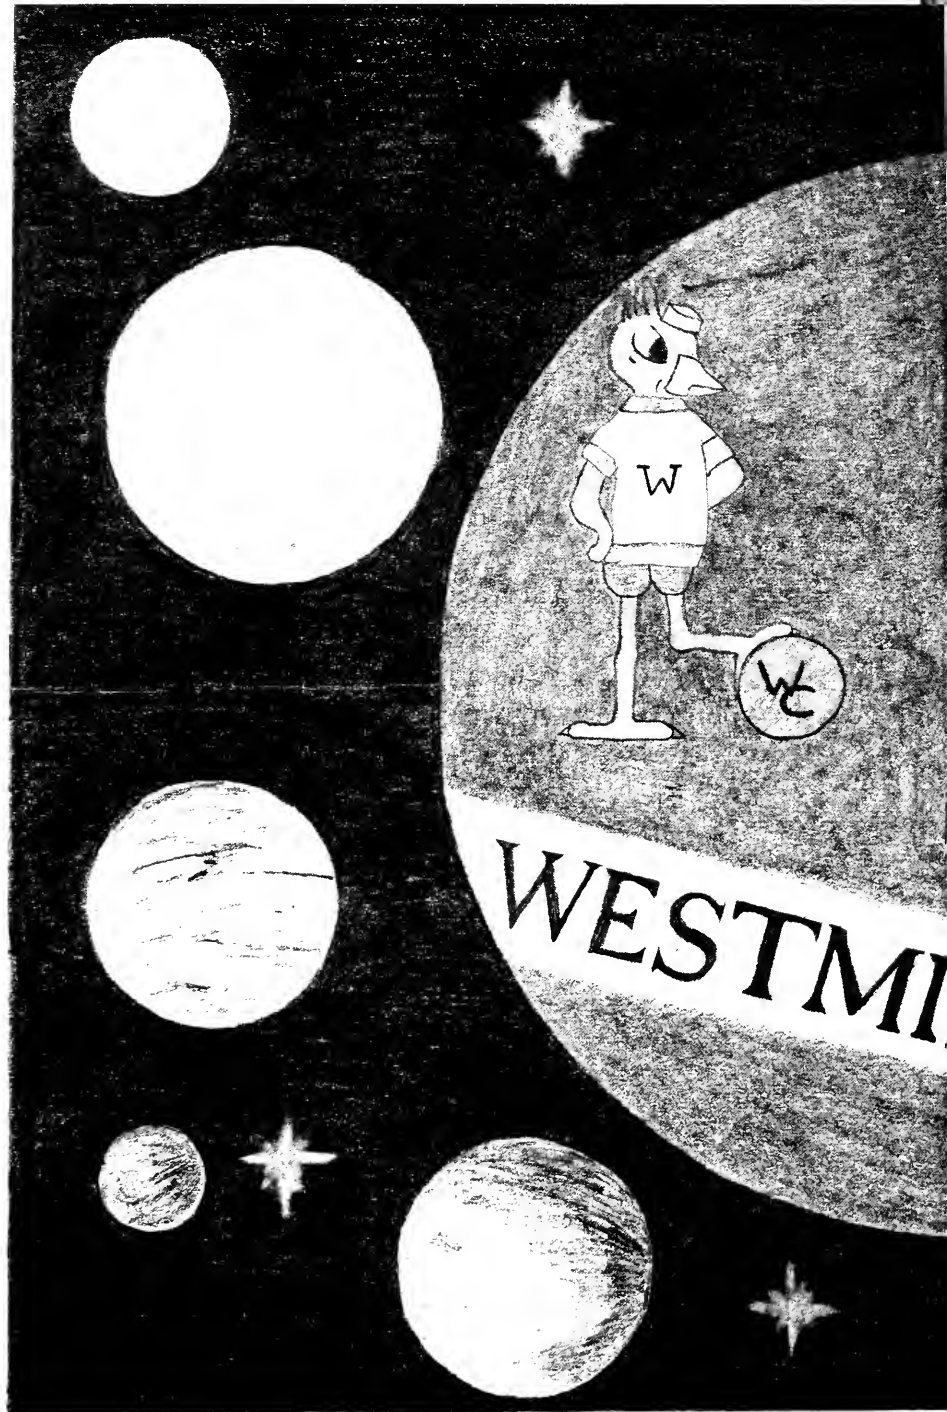

Our Small Solar System

If Westminster is our world then Fulton is definitely the solar system in which it resides. Numerous other worlds coexist with us in this planetary system. William Woods, the State Hospital, Brown Town, and even the Brick Plant are all examples of alternate worlds within the Fultonian System. A few satellites of Westminster also exist in Fulton: K-Square, Nubs Pub, the Tap Room — all are closely linked to the world of Westminster.

But in this small system we remain relatively isolated. Outside of a few sorties to the Woods, the bars, and the stores we keep to ourselves. The sense of our world's importance within Fulton grows with this isolation until our perception of Westminster's place in the town becomes distorted. Yes, the college is an integral part of the Fultonian System, but only in harmony with its neighboring worlds.

All solar systems are part of a larger galaxy. Fulton's place is in the galaxy of Missouri. It is no more than a small dot in the midst of the state, almost an insignificant stop on the highway between the two larger solar systems, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Within the galaxy of Missouri, a host of other worlds exist. Urban neighborhoods, suburban streets, rural communities, and numerous schools across the state make up a multitude of worlds in this galaxy. Amongst these, Westminster's seven hundred people comprise only a minute percentage of the total galaxian population.

It is, therefore, necessary to understand our world's position amidst the vast variety of other worlds if we are to maintain a reasonable perception of our college community.

Missouri A Galaxy in Itself

And more

People

A Whole Universe Out There

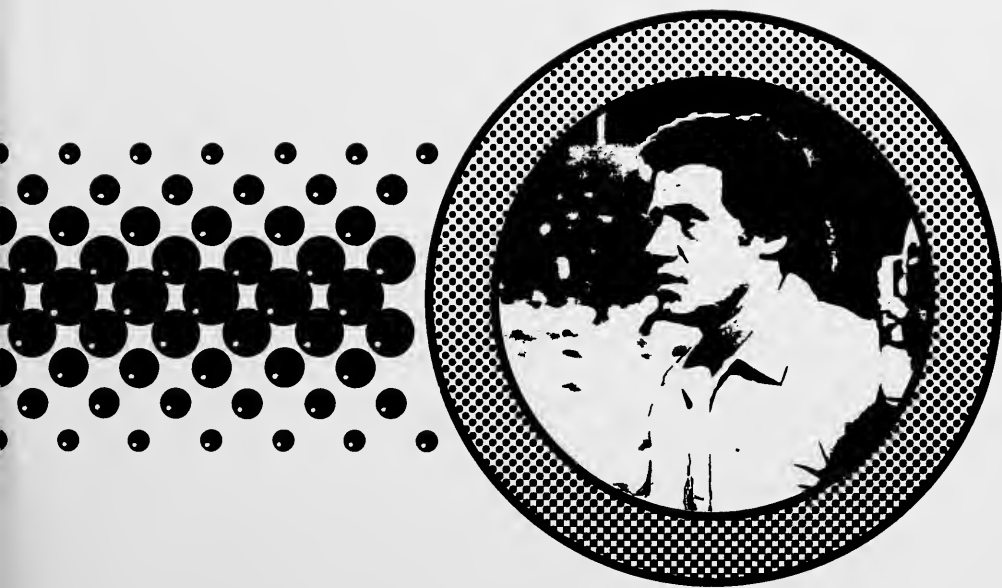

The galaxy of Missouri, however, is only a finite quantity in the infinite expanse of the universe. Outside of it, endless possibilities for alternate worlds exist. Whether those worlds be in other states, countries, or planets they still exist and Westminster, Fulton, and Missouri are only minuscule parts of the whole. If, therefore, we limit our vision solely to the isolated world of Westminster, our perspective of the universe around us is severely distorted. We sincerely believe the world we are going to present in the following pages is a fantastic one. We just wanted to show it is not the only one.

But . . .

Perhaps it is just as well Westminster is a world in itself as one can see what happens when it collides with people from the larger Universe.

The men of Delta Tau Delta have had another successful year at Westminster. The Delts initiated an outstanding pledge class of 18 and excelled in campus leadership, academics, athletics and social activities. Grades are a big priority to the chapter, as shown by a third place finish for top grades of all male living units. Delts have representatives in many organizations such as Student Foundation, Chaplain's Associates, Honor Commission, Student/Alumni Telefund Co-Coordinator, Yearbook Staff, and the Student Judiciary Board. Athletics is a strong asset for the Delts with 40% of its members on the basketball, cross-country, baseball, soccer, and track teams; seven members served as team captains on the basketball, soccer, baseball and cross-country teams. Senior Brad Hilsabeck earned all conference honors in basketball. The social scene was one of the best on campus, including SGA parties, Delta Queen, Yucca Flats, Playboy Party, Formals in St. Louis and many others. The Delts and the year with the retirement of their cook, Lucy Hunter, who has given them 32 years of faithful service. The Men of Delta Tau Delta undoubtedly anticipate greater things for 1986-87.

The brothers of the Phi Mu Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta compiled a very successful year in all aspects of campus life. Many organizations benefited from the leadership of Phi Gams. Fijis put forth their effort every way they could — within the House and in other activities. There were Fijis actively involved in the Westminster Ambassadors, SGA, Chapel Choir and many honorary fraternities. Community involvement was enhanced by our Christmas Party for the Deaf children and our annual Thanksgiving visit to a Fulton Nursing Home. Sports fans will recognize many Fijis on the varsity track and rifle teams as well as competing in intramurals. The Phi Gam social scene closed with another outstanding Fiji Island Party.

THETAS - THETAS - THETAS - THETAS -

The women of Kappa Alpha Theta have a commitment to academic excellence, community service, social growth, and campus involvement. Striving for academic excellence resulted in winning both the Panhellenic Pledge Class Award and the honored English Cup for the highest grades on campus. During the Fall the pledges embarked on a retreat to Chicago, where they visited the Theta chapter at Northwestern. The women were involved in service projects to benefit Fulton and their national philanthropy, the Institute of Logopedics, including the Beta-Theta See-Saw, "hosting" a Cystic Fibrosis tea party, collecting soup labels for the institute, and involvement with Missouri Girl's Town, Serve, and Meals-on-Wheels. The Thetas also held a number of social events, such as the annual hayride, Parent's Weekend Banquet, Mystery Date, and Formals. The chapter also participated in Tequila Sunrise, Halloween Party with the Sigma Chi's and pledge-in and initiation parties with the Deltas. Organizations which have Thetas as members are: Alpha Chi, Phi Alpha Theta, Skulls of Seven, Honor Commission, Student Judiciary Board, Student Foundation, Resident Advisors, Chaplain's Associates, Chapel Choir, Chamber Singers, JANUS, and womens volleyball, track, and cross country.

KAPPAS - KAPPAS - KAPPAS - KAPPAS

The women of Kappa Kappa Gamma had a successful 1985-1986 school year. The Kappas added a sizeable group of new initiates to their chapter. They continued their philanthropic activities for the community by sponsoring an Easter Egg Hunt for the local children, raking leaves for local widows, and Christmas caroling at the nursing homes. In the fall, the Kappas were busy with many activities. They took a road trip to the Oktoberfest in Hermann, entertained their parents at their Parents Weekend Banquet, and had a mystery date party with their pledges. To eliminate the winter blahs, the girls had their Christmas Formals in Jefferson City and serenaded their Sweetheart Formals dates.

1985 was a difficult year for the Interfraternity Council. First, the new Rush system's first implementation required careful supervision and coordination by officers and representatives alike. Second, a problem with officer selection resulted in a restructuring of the council so all seven fraternities would be assured equal representation. Though plagued by difficulties, it seems the IFC will remain the conscientious and moderate force joining the fraternities.

For four years the Panhellenic Association has successfully overseen the Formal Rush of the two sororities at Westminster. The organization is comprised of a delegate from both the Kappas and the Thetas as well as four other officers. Under the leadership of Mandie Scothorn, this year's president, relations between the two sororities continued to flourish. This was witnessed by the friendly and cordial manner the two chapters used in their joint activities.

Beta Beta Beta is a national honorary fraternity recognizing those Biology majors who have distinguished themselves with high academic performance in Biology and non-Biology courses. Tri-Beta was very active in 1985-86. They represented the Biology Department at all Campus Classic-weekends, they supplied the soft drink machine in Coulter Science Center, and they often spoke about going on field trips. All in all, a banner year.

The Gamma Tau chapter of Phi Alpha Theta is organized to recognize those students who have displayed scholastic excellence in history and non-history courses. To enter, the initiate must maintain at least a 3.00 cumulative GPA with a 3.00 in all history courses. To promote the study of history, the international organization sponsors regional conferences where undergraduate and graduate students may present papers.

The Columns presented a different, often controversial viewpoint to the Westminster student body during the 1985-86 school year. Under the editorship of Gary Siddens and the columns writing of Jim Williams, the sporadically appearing papers sought to challenge Westminster student's intransigent viewpoints. Essays on subjects ranging from Arrogance in Academia to Anarchy in the USA were mixed with a combination of satire and news to enlighten and enthuse the readers.

The first day at college, alone and afraid, who do freshmen turn to when they need to comfort their sorrows. Who else but the Quad Squad. Well, perhaps this is a romantic view of RAs, whom the freshmen sometimes view them as symbols of tacit authority intruding on their Libertarian beliefs. However, in reality the RAs are actually friendly individuals ready to serve when help is needed. Those freshmen who overcome their initial awe, soon come to find that RAs are the most stable, friendly people on campus. Their thankless job deserves praise and the Bluejay hopes this trite passage will accomplish that end.

Jim Lay

My relationship with the yearbook began, in all unlikely places, in Athens, Greece. Calling home to say Happy Easter, my father informed me that Dean Kirby had called to say I was the new yearbook editor. I was slightly shocked. Afterall, I had done only one small yearbook section before, in my sophomore year. Well, I said yes (foolishly perhaps, but yes nevertheless)

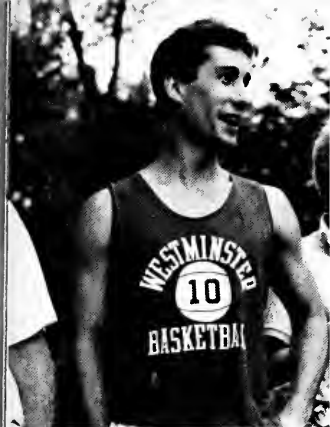

That started an educational experience I shall never forget. The first step required learning all about the darkroom, something I never really mastered (to which my photo editor will attest). Secondly, I came to realize just how difficult the entire process really is. This difficulty only increases when combined with a Senior Thesis. Anyway, I guess it is complete if you are now sitting there reading my soap opera.

The theme of the book is: "Westminster, A World in Itself." I could think of no better way to describe my perceptions of this wonderful, educational, isolated institution in the middle of Missouri. I hope I have not blurred my very real love for this place with occasional sarcasm. If I have, oh well.

This book is not a one man production as I sometimes bitched and moaned it was. First, I must thank my photo editor, Jim Lay, without whom I would have been totally lost. I also wish him well as editor next year. Thanks also to Liz Dunn, assistant editor, who learned through me the real definition of procrastination.

I was blessed with some very talented section editors. Cory Hohnbaum and Dean Cooper provided steady, reliable work and produced excellent layouts. Dawn Harju stepped in for Kim Woodruff at Classes and Living Units and did a terrific job with that difficult section. A special thanks goes to Dawn Walters who stepped in at the last minute to take over the Student Life Section when Mike Kerr did not return for short-term. Photographers Dan Roques and Jeff Hollman did a great job all year.

And a final thanks goes to all my fellow annexites who put up with my bitching, bad moods, and general sloppiness. Without you guys I would have never made it.

Varsity Sports

Soccer

The men's Soccer team, directed by first year coach Tom Ryan, struggled to a 2-13 record this season. Much of the problem was the relative inexperience of the squad, with ten freshmen on the team and four in the starting lineup.

The captains of the team were Jeff Philliber, Rob Hansen, Stuart Cornwall and John Powers. These four people, according to Ryan, provided the necessary talent and leadership for a successful season. The team was inconsistent and had a difficult time putting two halves of soccer together. An example of this came against powerhouse Principia College of Illinois. Principia scored five goals on the Blue Jays in the first half but the Blue Jays pulled themselves together and did not allow a goal in the second half.

One of the major strengths of the team was their time of possession. Ryan said the team handled the ball well but had a difficult time putting the ball in the net.

With one more year under their belts and a bright new group of recruits, look for next year's team to show considerable improvement.

Volleyball

The woman's volleyball team, under the leadership of second year coach Beverly Kozlowski, compiled the most wins in the five year history of the sport at Westminster. Their 24 and 13 record earned them a third place finish in the Ozark Collegiate Conference and a tenth place finish in the district.

The team's record is even more remarkable considering that injuries plagued the team throughout the year. The Blue Jays played most of their games with just six players, requiring all six to play the entire match without rest.

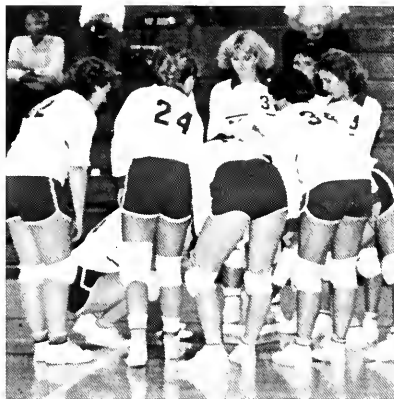

Many of the players were recognized after the season for their contributions. Shelley Carver was named First Team All-Conference, the second time she has been so honored. Mary Schaller and Jenny Klann were both named Academic All-Conference. Jayne Wilson was a nationally ranked server for the entire year, yet she was overlooked for any post-season honors.

After falling just one game short of earning a berth in the District Playoffs, Kozlowski says "to look out for us next year"

Men's Cross Country

The men's cross country team, coached by Richard Ault, had a very successful year. The team finished first out of five teams in the Westminster Invitational and ran consistently well throughout the year.

The team finished fourth at the District 16 Meet behind the ninth place finish of David Dalton. Greg Richard, Kirk Sudheimer, and Kort BeSore all finished in the top 30.

By virtue of his ninth place finish, Dalton earned a trip to the national meet. He was also selected to represent the United States on a tour of Europe during the summer of 1986.

Women's Cross Country

The women's cross country team, coached by Richard Ault, turned in yet another outstanding year. The team finished third at the District 16 Meet behind the strong running of Katy Murphy and Pat Brandel, finishing fourth and eighth respectively. Katy Murphy turned in a personal best time of 19:15 at the meet and both she and Brandel represented the team at the national meet.

Justine Hambrough missed qualifying by one place, finishing eleventh. Hambrough was cited by Ault for her dedication and outstanding attitude. Patty O'Donnell finished a respectable 16th at the meet and Gayle Leone finished 22nd.

The team loses the services of Mendez and Murphy at graduation. Murphy is undoubtedly the best cross country runner in the short history of the sport at Westminster. Her contribution will be missed.

Above: Justine Hambrough and Pat Brandel fight the elements as well as the other runners.

Basketball

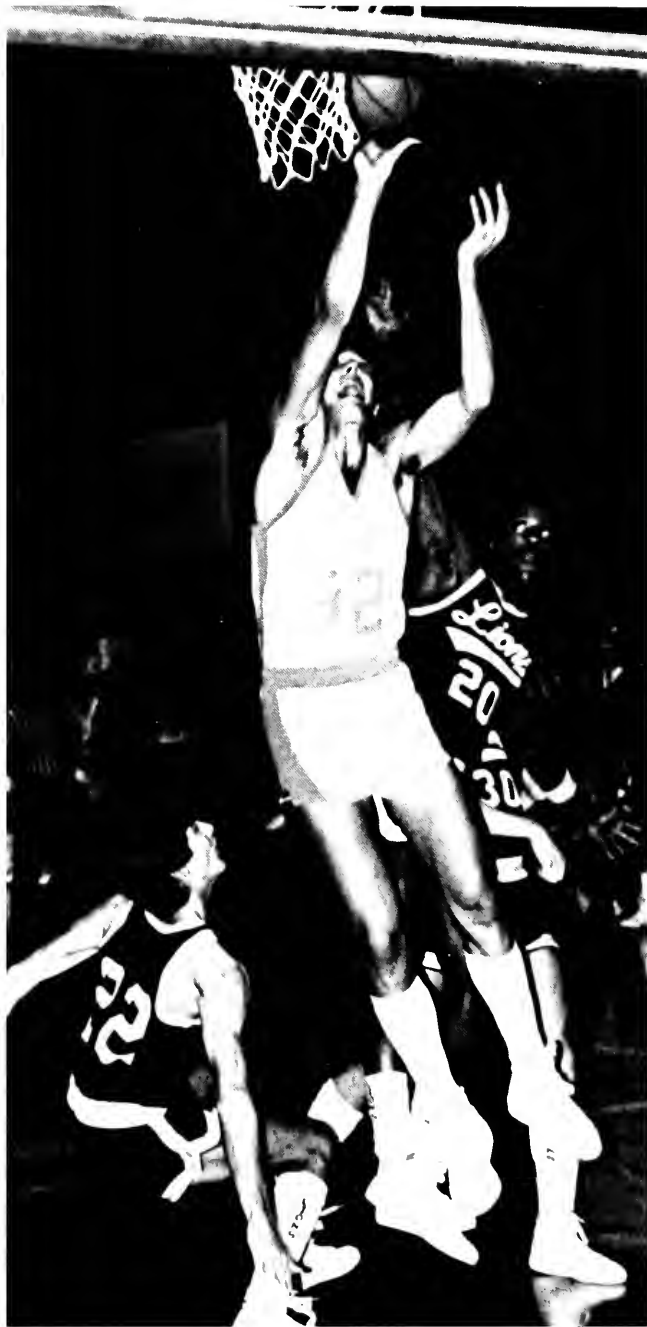

The 1985-86 Blue Jay basketball team had one of its most successful seasons in the school's history. The team's 23-7 record earned them their first Ozark Collegiate Conference Championship. The team also earned a District 16 playoff berth for the first time in recent history. Under the leadership of Coach Jim McEwen, the team has also compiled a home win streak of 30 games.

Much of the team's success centers around the two senior co-captains, Brad Hilsabeck and Craig Spratt. Hilsabeck was the team leader in rebounds and was second in scoring averaging 18.5 points per game. Spratt's cool demeanor and leadership proved invaluable to a relatively young team.

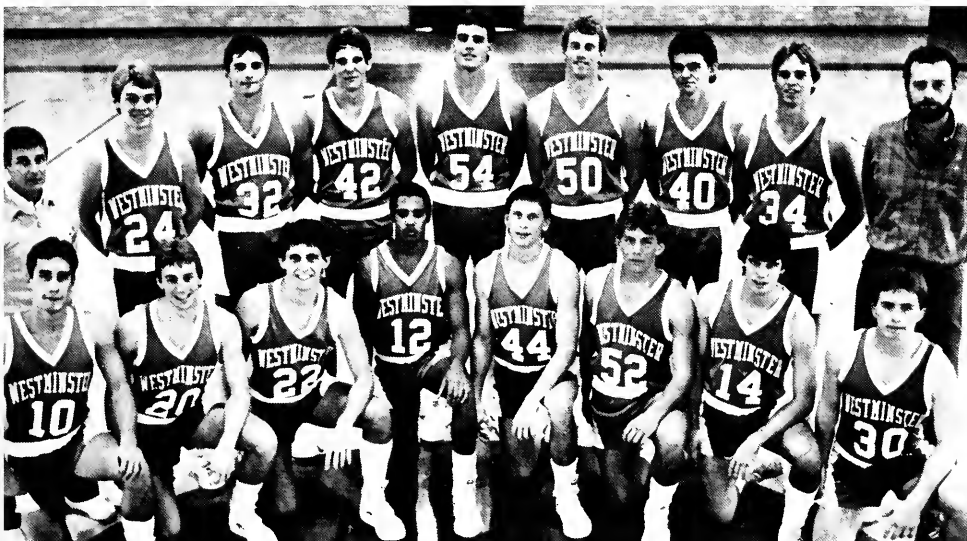

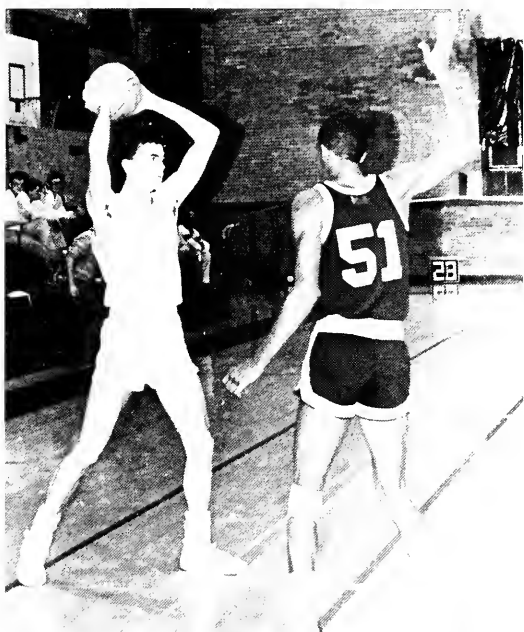

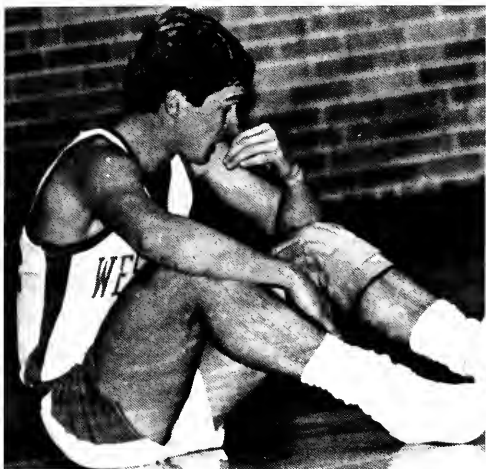

Also aiding the Blue Jay cause were guards Ken Theroff and Cory Hohnbaum. Theroff broke his own school record for assists with 200, breaking his old record by 66 assists. Hohnbaum was the team's leading scorer averaging just over 19 points per game and also led the team in free-throw percentage.

The team's success rested heavily on the shoulders of the role players, such as Brian James, Terry Pursifull, Greg Martin and Craig McIntosh, who set a school record for field goal accuracy.

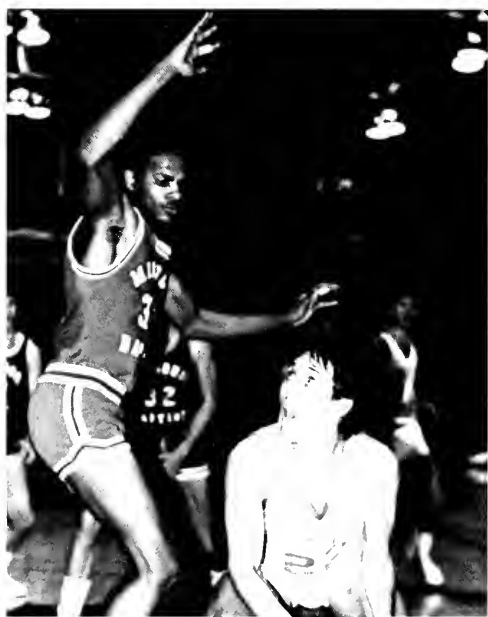

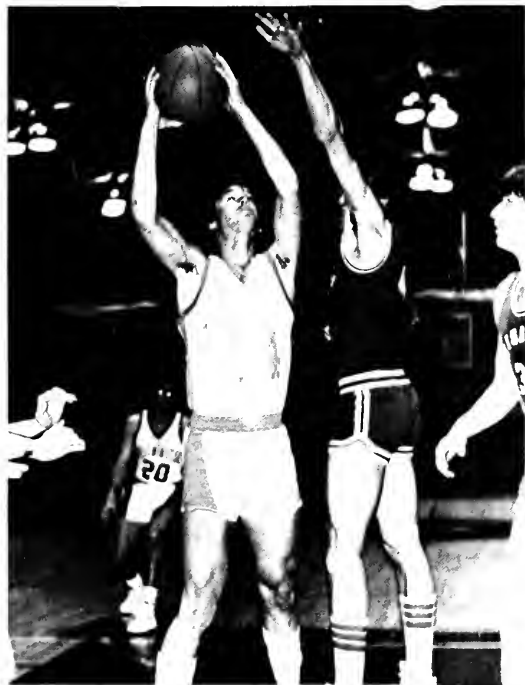

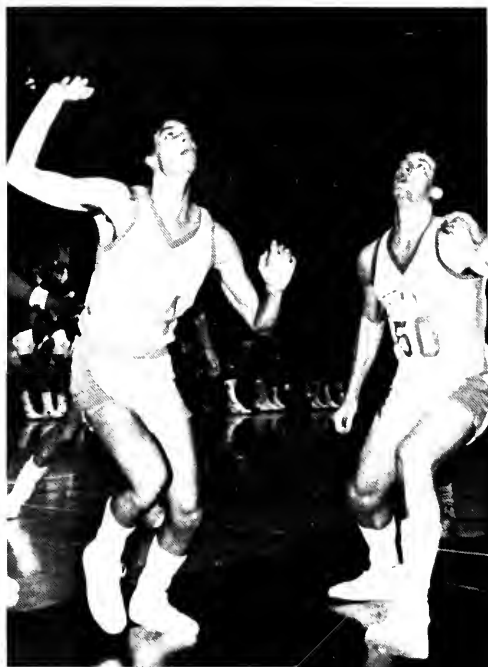

The Blue Jays have established themselves as a force to be reckoned with in District 16.

Men's Track

According to Coach Richard Ault, the men's track team had some of the best talent that Westminster has had in its track and field program in some time. Fourteen Blue Jays won varsity letters, a feat only accomplished by placing in an individual event in the District meet or finishing first or second in a relay.

The team finished an outstanding third at the district 16 meet. Bob Granger finished first in the 110 High Hurdles while three other Blue Jays finished second. Greg Kline in the Javelin, Brian Saba in the 110 High Hurdles, and David Dalton in the 800 meter run.

The team loses the services of seniors Granger, Kline, Mac Brown and Mark Gant. The team returns the bulk of its top performers and is looking forward to successful seasons in the future.

Women's Track

The women's track and field team, coached by Beverly Kozlowski, finished third at the District 16 meet behind the strong individual performance of Debbie Brandt. She won the discus event, setting a new school record, and also placed second in the 800 meter run.

Also aiding the Blue Jay cause were Katy Murphy, finishing second in the 1500 meter run, and Jayne Wilson who finished third in the javelin.

The team will miss the leadership of two graduating seniors, Murphy and Marguerite Donovan.

Baseball

The revamped varsity baseball team, coached by Partick Kirby, finished the year with a 17-30 record. Although it was a losing season, the baseball team took a giant step in the right direction this year.

The team was led at the plate by Scot Nilsen who batted .339. Mike Kim and Ken Theroff batted .315 and .331 respectively. The R.B.I. leader was Cecil Graves with 29 and both he and Steve Jackson led the team in home-runs with four.

The team's pitching staff centered around Craig McIntosh and Rob Irwin. McIntosh finished the year with a 6-6 record while Irwin went 7-3. Aside from these two, the major area for improvement comes in the area of pitching and catching.

Many Blue Jays received post-season honors. Theroff was named first-team All-District, while McIntosh was recognized on the second team. Five players were named honorable mention: Cecil Graves, Steve Jackson, Mike Kim, Scott Nilsen, and Nick Plastiras.

Coaches Kirby and Irwin recruited 24 new players for 1986-87 and made significant improvements, including a sod infield donated by Trustee Frank Whitbeck, to the baseball facilities. The improvement seen in the program this year points to a bright future for Westminster College baseball.

Men's Tennis

The men's tennis team, under the leadership of first year coach Tom Ryan, compiled an outstanding 9-3 record. The team's only losses came at the hands of Washington U. (twice), and Drury College, two respected programs.

Harry Spilker, the team's number one singles player finished the year with a 5-7 record, even after competing against the best in the state. The Blue Jays received an added boost from their number four player Alan Gehrich who finished the year with a 7-2 record.

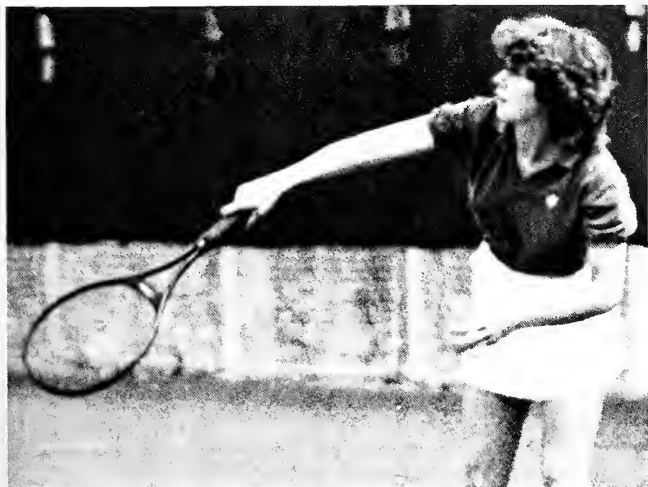

The doubles team of Spilker and Matt Owen compiled an 8-4 record.

The team loses the services of only one senior, Billy Fisher, the number two singles player. With the best overall record in some time, the prospects for next year are good.

What follow through!

Women's Tennis

The women's tennis team, coached by recent graduate Lisa Osbourne, had a very dismal year. The team's overall record was 0-13. The team's main problem was its lack of experience. No one on the squad had varsity level experience of any kind.

With a group of new recruits and all but one player back, the team should show steady improvement.

Laura Miller stands, ready to return the serve.

Golf

The men's golf team, coached by Jim McEwen, had yet another successful year. The team finished first at the Lincoln Invitational and tied for second at the Rolla Invitational losing by just one stroke.

At the most important tournament of the year, the District 16 Tournament, the team finished second, just three strokes back. Sterling Short finished fourth and Brett Bloom finished sixth. Both were named to the All-District team.

The team loses two seniors to graduation, John Scribner and Paul Schierbecker.

Rifle Team

The rifle team was restructured this year under the leadership of Sgt. Griggs who took over the program second semester. Eleven students were on the rifle team with the top four shooters shooting in the nationals. Ken Murer was the team's captain and the top shooters were Murer, Sang Soo Kim, Andy Rikand, and Jeff Zesch.

The team placed fifth in the postal meet behind Rikand's score of 490. Murer shot the second best for the Blue Jays with a score of 459. The team's most consistent performer was Rikand according to team captain Murer. He shot over 500 on a couple of occasions.

The team loses only the services of Zesch to graduation and Sgt. Griggs, under a restructured program, looks for a successful year.

Brad Hilsabeck: Athlete of the Year

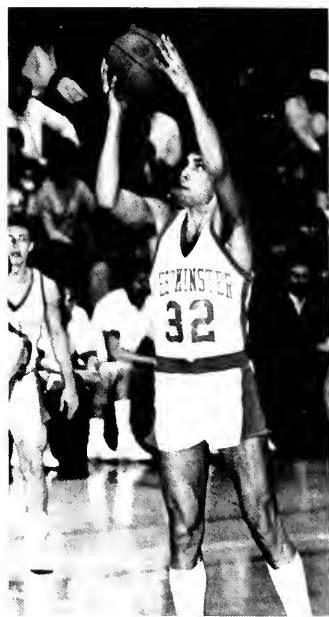

Brad Hilsabeck was selected as this year's athlete of the year. Brad is a graduate of Savannah High School in Savannah, Missouri. He lettered four years in basketball and captained the team his senior year.

During Brad's four years at Westminster, the basketball program rose from relative obscurity to a state powerhouse. Much of the program's rise can be credited to his contributions.

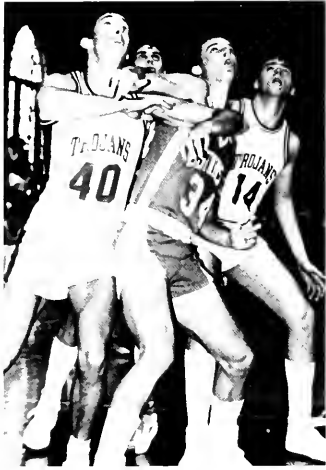

His smooth jump-shot and finesse inside game helped him to rewrite the record books. He finished his career as both the second leading scorer and rebounder in the school's history. He was selected All-League his last two years and was named All-District his senior year.

Brad is undoubtedly one of Westminster's greatest basketball players of all time.

Phi Delts

The 1985-86 Intramural Season began with what is possibly the most popular sport of the year. Once again, played in the beautiful Missouri autumn, participants and spectators alike grasp at the last rays of summer sunshine while Westminster College took one more valiant shot at college football.

The Phi Delts, after an opening game overtime victory over the KA's, marched uncontested to an undefeated first place finish. The KA's followed suit from then on, adding victories over the Sig Chis and Betas for the first time in over four years.

Parity was the story of the B-League. The KA's and Sig Chis tied for the championship with one loss each. Traditionally a testing ground for new talent, the B-League proved to be that once again. The Sig Chis had perhaps the best combination of spirited newcomers and experienced older players. Darin Ramey had a fine year in his first try at the quarterback position. He was supported by many strong performances both on offense and defense. The KA's relied on their experienced defense to keep them in contention while a freshman dominated offense looked to put points on the board.

The post-season tournament results mirrored the regular season finish. The championship proved to be a rematch of the season's opening game. The Phi Delts, led by a terrifying Carl Copek and John Rollins defensive rush, defeated the KA's 13-7. The game was decided with forty-five seconds to go when a KA drive fell ten yards short.

The sport of volleyball should have been renamed Delt-ball in 1985. The Deltas, led by Craig Stefanczyk, dominated all other participants and finished undefeated. The powerful play of frontliners Brad Hilsabeck and Craig McIntosh, combined with Stefanczyk's knowledge of the game, was enough to smother the rest of the league.

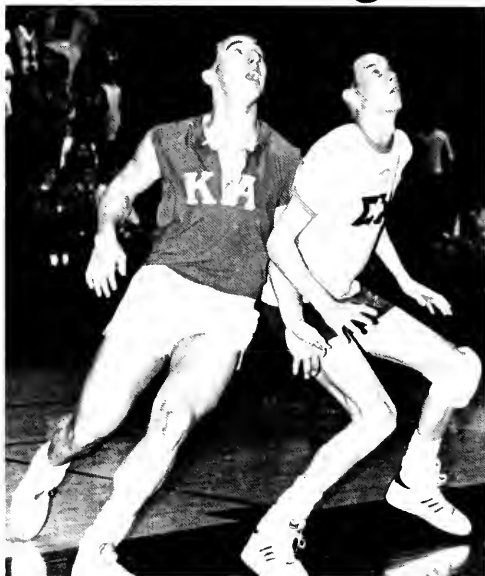

An interesting addition to the league was the varsity woman's team, which replaced the faculty on the schedule. They quickly put to rest any chauvinistic thoughts the men might have harbored by defeating all teams, except the Deltas. The Delt v. Varsity match-up was an excellent display of volleyball skills by both sides. Those in attendance were taught how the game is supposed to be played.

The post-season tournament provided few surprises except the appearance of the KA's in the finals. They obtained access by defeating the favored Betas in three games. In the finals, however, the Deltas were not about to play Goliath to the KA's David. In two short games the Deltas left no doubt as to which team was worthy of the championship.

Hoops

The KA's dominated the final standings of basketball with their A and B teams finishing 10-0 and 8-0, respectively. These undefeated records were not, however, indicative of the balance of the two leagues. The KA's made use of several one point victories in building their undefeated records. The top four teams in the A-league and the top five in the B-league were quite evenly matched. What resulted from this bounty of equal teams was a season of excitement for players and spectators alike.

The post season tournaments found the Sigs and KA's in the A-league and the KA's and the surprising Faculty in the B-league final. The Sig/KA game was another classic nail biter. The KA's came out on top 41-40. This was the fourth straight one point victory by the Kappa Alpha squad over the Sigs, going back to the previous season. In the B-league final the Faculty found the younger KA's just too much as they went down in a twenty-four point defeat.

The Deltis acquired their loss from the inconsistent Beta squad, while the Phi Deltis lost the regular season matchup of the two league leaders. In a postseason playoff game, for the trophy, the Phi Deltis claimed the championship.

The season was characterized by abundant sunshine and minimal rainouts, thus, providing the perfect ending to another year of intramural competition.

A Winning Combination, Beeler/Brunger

The Intramural Athletic Directors are possibly the most important aspects of the intramural program. This year's directors, Brent Beeler and Brad Brunger, ran an efficient and enjoyable program for the student body. Their many hours of planning and scheduling were exhibited by the smooth way in which the season progressed. Confusion over starting times and questions about rules were almost nonexistent, a pleasant change from years past. Beeler and Brunger kept the houses updated and informed from the season's beginning, to the end.

To these valuable students we dedicate this page, for without them the intramural program would have been substantially less valuable to our campus life

The race for Intramural Supremacy was won by the men of the Kappa Alpha Order, in a run away. Not since 1960 had Kappa Alpha found itself atop the IM standings. In 1986 they accomplished this feat in style. Riding first place finishes in basketball, swimming, and table tennis, along with second place finishes in football and racketball, Kappa Alpha mathematically eliminated their opponents with three sports remaining. No other team in recent memory outdistanced the competition in such rapid fashion.

Kappa Alpha owed much of its success to its senior athletes. This eighteen man class accounted for a majority of the team members in virtually every sport for KA. The victory was still a total house effort, however, as 96% of the brothers participated in at least one sport.

Student Life

A New Beginning

Anxious, excited, and curious freshmen were noticed filing into the Quad on August 24. This marked the beginning of an electrifying occurrence ... a new beginning for the young freshmen. New friendships began forming almost immediately. These bonds only grew stronger throughout the year. The sharing of dreams, fears, and sorrows helped unite them and provide the courage to keep fighting. Some will be unable to accompany the rest of the class at the traditional graduation ceremony, but those who do will only continue to grow closer. The best of luck and wishes for continued success goes out to this very special group and everyone else who endures the Westminster challenge.

Men's Rush

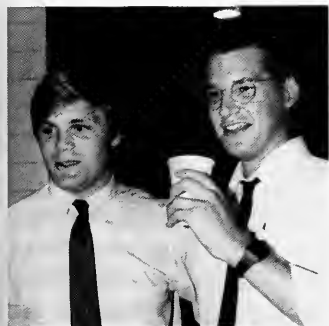

CLOCKWISE STARTING RIGHT: The Fijis cheer Rushees home. Tom Davis listens intently to a Rush speech. Shadd Thomas sips some of that fine Beta punch. The SAE's welcome the Rushees into their house. Mike Gugley explains what kappa Alpha brotherhood is all about.

Men's Rush, that stable tradition of old, transformed into a new, confusing ordeal in 1985. The most notable change resulted in lengthening the festivities from seven rush dates to eleven. Needless to say, previously hoarse voices soon became mute. Several time honored institutions also fell by the wayside. Streetwalkers became extinct except for a pathetic two hours on the last day. Now, Rushes could not spike until the last rush date. The Hill Party was no more. Perhaps the worst casualties of the new system were the freshmen themselves. Not having the opportunity to see which houses had predetermined their new pledge classes and which still opened their doors to shy Rushees, many freshmen staked their hopes on one house only to be disappointed when the limited quotas did not include them. So much for tradition.

CLOCKWISE STARTING BELOW Doug Young shows that Miles Davis has nothing to fear. The Rushees leave the Quad for another session of Rush speeches. Andy Rikana looks for a brother so to introduce Ron Howard. The Phi Deltis prepare to enthuse Rushees

CLOCKWISE STARTING BELOW: Kappas Leanne and Julie entertain Rushes. Thetas perform sidewalk songs. Teresa Manipella welcomes Susan Castiberry to a Theta party. Kappas greet Rushes with sidewalk songs. Anne Colburn cheerfully explains what Kappa Kappa Gamma is all about.

Women's Rush

Panhellenic rush began August 30th, the day after I.F.C. rush. This provided the female rushees with a preview of what was in store for them the following three days. Much preparation on the part of the women of Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma went into making the rush parties exciting and fun for all. All of their time and effort and tremendous planning paid off as they cheerfully greeted their fourth pledge classes on September 1.

Parents' Weekend

Like the annual turning of the leaves, Parents' Week-end comes each autumn catching students unaware. Some still have "finishing touches" to put on their rooms (thus explaining the cluttered mess). Others are just recovering from massive brain hemorrhages (thus explaining the less-than-reputable mid-term reports). But despite these mild traumas of October, the weekend is usually a pleasant chance for parents to view children in their new, "natural" habitat. This is especially true for freshmen who can show off their new world to Mom and Dad. For those not fortunate enough to have their parents present (or fortunate as the case may be), Sweazy's annual Orphans' Party provides sympathy in the form of amber colored liquid. For those awake on Sunday morning, the Chapel service provides one last moment for parents and children to be together on the grounds of Westminster. Then it is so long 'till Thanksgiving.

Concerts & Lectures

The CALDICOTT WELSH MEN'S CHOIR (right) from Caldicott Wales, brought to Westminster a combination of traditional Welsh songs and better known pieces to entertain a capacity crowd at St. Mary Aldermanbury Church.

"WE CAN MAKE YOU LAUGH" (below) was billed as the hottest new show in the college market today. The two-hour program was run by comedians JOE DUNCKEL, DANNY "The WILD MAN" BALLARD, and CHAS. During the second hour of the show students were selected by a random drawing to be contestants in the "We Can Make You Laugh" game show. Here John Hepting tries to keep a straight face as Chas taunts him.

SGA brought a two band concert to campus in December. The bands were Guess Who and Steppenwolf. The concert was moderately attended as always. Above is the lead guitarist from STEPPENWOLF.

CARUSO (left) was another SGA sponsored band. This fall concert, held in Champ Auditorium, included an interesting mix of noise and notes seeking to enthuse the student body - unfortunately they did not succeed.

JOSEPH COLLINS (left), an author and co-founder of the Institute for Food and Development Policy. He is a leading spokesman on world hunger and Third World development issues. Dr. Collins' topic was "The African Famine." Collins was an interesting speaker who made students aware of the problems of world hunger.

MAJORIE MAGUIRE (below), a Catholic theologian, led off the Religion-in-Life Program's debate on abortion. Maguire took the pro-choice side of the debate and conveyed her own personal views on abortion to a crowd of attentive students. Her talk was well received by those in attendance.

DAVID GARIN (above) analyzed the political influence involved in the difficult legislative and environmental decisions relating to nuclear energy, hazardous waste management, animal testing, and other science based issues. Garin's talk entitled "Science and Politics" opened the eyes of many students.

BILL TAMMEUS (right), an editorial writer for the Kansas City Star for the past nine years, writes the humorous daily Starbeams Column. The subjects of his lecture was "Media in the 1980's." In his talk he explained the role of the media in today's American society.

ROBERT ESKRIDGE (right) gave a speech entitled "French Impressionism." His talk included the use of slides featuring paintings by renowned artists such as Monet, Renoir, Cezanne, Gauguin, Seurat, and Van Gogh.

SPEER MORGAN (below), a novelist, short story writer, and professor of English and director of the Creative Writing program at the University of Missouri-Columbia. He was the final speaker in a series entitled "The Writer and His Roots." During his short stay at Westminster Mr. Morgan spent some time with several English classes.

CHRIS GOLDMAN (above), spoke about "Apartheid in South Africa: Current Realities and American Responses." He told of his own recent experiences with the blacks of South Africa. Goldman is currently affiliated with Earlham College in Indiana where he serves as a visiting assistant professor of political science.

JEFF COHEN (below) presented a talk entitled "Who Slew the Dreamer (Martin Luther King)?" Cohen gave a history of King's life and presented some eye opening evidence that made the listener think twice about the handling of the investigation of the slayed civil rights leader. Cohen is an attorney and a former Los Angeles - based investigator of the case.

WILLIAM CHILDRESS (above), a well-known columnist for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch who writes the column "Out of the Ozarks." Childress, an alcoholic himself, spoke to students about alcoholism and told of his personal experiences that influenced him to change his own life for the better. While he was on campus he taught classes on the problems of being a writer.

SCOTT KEELY (right) presented a drama entitled "Goodnight, Mr. Poe" that was a dramatic interpretation of what might have occurred on the night before Poe was found, delirious and raving, in a Baltimore tavern.

DALE JANSSEN (Right) entertained students with song and tale. Janssen appeared before the crowd in his two personalities — first Dale Janssen and then Samuel Clemens. Janssen, an expert on Twain, brought Twain's wit and humor to Fulton.

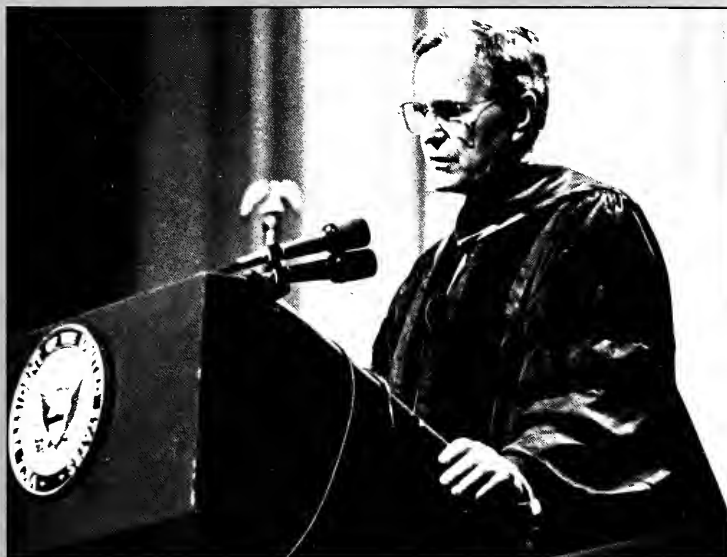

DANIEL SHENE (left) appeared in concert at Dulaney Auditorium. Shene, a talented pianist entertained and captivated an audience of students and faculty from both campuses.

CHARLES GUSEWELLE (right) addressed a packed Coulter Science Lecture Hall in early March. Gusewelle, a 1955 Westminster Graduate and a Columnist for the Kansas City Star, presented a lecture entitled "Europe and Africa Now." He told about his extensive travels and tried to explain many of the current news items in Europe and Africa.

JOHN FINDLEY GREEN FOUNDATION LECTURE

On March 5, 1986 Vice President George Bush delivered the Forty-First John Findley Green Foundation Lecture to a capacity crowd in Champ Auditorium. The speech was covered by national media ranging from the St. Louis Post Dispatch to the Fayette Advertiser. Many of Missouri's top politicians were also in attendance.

During the ceremonies Bush received the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws. In this lecture Bush made an appeal for President Reagan's $100 million aid package for Nicaragua. He said that this package would be the best insurance to keep American soldiers out of Central America.

DAN MOLDEA (left) spoke to students about Organized Crime in America. Moldea, a full-time free-lance writer and author specializing in investigations of organized crime, gave a marathon history of organized crime and its role in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

FRANK WHITBECK (right), a 1969 graduate at Westminster College and president/owner of Signature Life Insurance Co. of America, spoke to students about "Private Entrepreneurship Within the Current American Economy: Opportunity or False Hope." Mr. Whitbeck also donated the new sod for the Westminster College baseball field.

The TRIO CASSATT (left) entertained students during their one hour concert at St. Mary Aldermanbury Church. The Trio Cassatt featured Dana, Meryl Edson, Kathleen Mattis, and Catherine Lehr, all members of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra. The concert was entitled "An Evening of Music."

CHRIS SPAULDING (left), a Harvard Graduate, presented a speech titled "Sexual Harassment: Who Pays the Price?" She discussed the complexities of defining sexual harassment, the extent, and the effects of the problem.

RICHARD NEUHAUS (right), presented the pro life view on abortion. Pastor Neuhaus is the director of the Center on Religion and Society in New York City and the editor of The Religion and Society Report.

The abortion panel discussion (below) brought the Religion-in-Life Program's debate to a close. Taking the pro-choice view were JULIA APPLE and ANNE COX. For the pro life stance the debaters were PAT MANARD and MARY WESSLER.

Churchill

Symposium

The weekend of April 25-27 around Westminster playing host to some of the finest minds in the field of Anglo-American Relations. The Churchill Symposium, sponsored by the Churchill Memorial endowment fund, commemorated the fortieth anniversary of Churchill's "Sinews of Peace" speech at Westminster. Seven distinguished British and American Scholars presented papers on both Churchill's place in history and Anglo-American Relations. The high caliber of the papers presented and the lively discussion periods insured a successful weekend. The symposium was concluded on Sunday with Robert Rhodes James, MP, delivering the 5th Crosby Kemper Lecture.

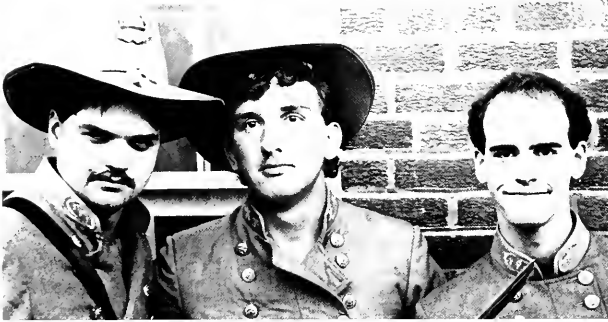

CLOCKWISE (BOTH PAGES) STARTING LEFT: Christopher Thorne, University of Sussex, "The Near and the Far, Aspects of Anglo-American Relations, 1914-1945."; John Lewis Gaddis, "The British Official Perception of the United States, 1941-1950."; Dr. Jones and Professor Emeritus Charles F. Mullet in conversation; Warren F. Kimball, "The American Image of Winston Churchill."; Raymond A. Phi Delt's capture college bowl trophy

In a dramatic, nail biting finish, the Phi Delt college bowl team defeated the Westminster Independent Association two year champs, to take the Donald B. Gordon College Bowl Trophy. The previously unstoppable WCIA team, led by such minds as Steve Conder and Joel Hassien, lost 290-280 to the Phi Delt challengers. Excellent performances by all Phi Delt team members, including a 145 point match by Carl Copek and a last minute, triumphant answer by John Rollins, insured their victory. However, both teams have lost two strong seniors each and the field is open for the 1987 competition.

Alumni Weekend

It is a time when the old meets the young, when lost traditions are revived, and when new traditions are revealed. Every May the grounds of Westminster are filled with returning Alumni. They come for different reasons. The youngest seek out friends still enrolled. The oldest return for one last pilgrimage to their Alma Mater. But all return to share in reminiscing about their Westminster days. But reminiscing aside, the weekend is filled with many events to enthuse and entertain Alums during their short weekend. The Friday tennis tournament allows would be stars to win balsa wood trophies. Saturday starts with the 5K Alma Meter run for the fit and crazy. A luncheon Saturday afternoon and a Househop Saturday evening allows the Alumni to meet past friends and students alike. Then Sunday morning, a quiet service in the Memorial concludes the weekend with fitting reverence. As they drive home, one only hopes their minds are occupied by pleasant memories of Westminster days.

Short Term Games

Short term's Greek Games drew the attention of many students from each campus even though rain did hamper some of the events. Competitive events such as pie eating, sack races, 3-legged races, tug-o-war, the obstacle course, and the keg toss entertained everyone. Many unsuspecting novices were recruited for the ever-popular bat relay, but several of the ol' pros seemed to enjoy the embarrassment and volunteered again this year. Nevertheless, the entire day was full of excitement. Many thanks go out to all the organizers of this year's games from everyone who participated and from those who merely spectated.

Awards Night

The Student Life staff takes time each year to congratulate and acknowledge outstanding students at the Honors and Awards Convocation. Also recognized were those students who were recently inducted into an honor fraternity. Groups participating in service projects also received a special thank you. This year, in fact, Chaplain Young was honored for his service to Ecumenical Ministries.
